A Medical Journal Comments on Grant's Case.

THE CAUSES OF HIS TROUBLES

The Texas Strikers Making Matters Unpleasant for Gould—Leaders of the Oklahoma Boomers Arrested in Kansas

NEW YORK, March 5.—The Medical Record will say to-morrow: In view of recent developments in General Grant's condition the Record's bulletin of two weeks ago, so largely quoted by the press of the country, requires some explanation. It is fair to state that the facts at the time presented by the Medical Record were founded on the best authority—that of Dr. Fordyce Barker, a leading physician of General Grant, and this explanation is made manifest in the following note:

EAST [illegible] STREET.

Dear Doctor Shrady: [illegible]

TO-DAY'S [illegible]

WEDNESDAY NOON, March 4, 1885.

THE "RECORD'S" COMMENTS.

It is a matter of deep regret that the grave suspicions entertained of the serious nature of General Grant's disease are confirmed by diagnosis of the epithelioma of the tongue and face. This disease, the name of which is now perhaps heard of by the general public for the first time, assumes an importance which it could never otherwise obtain. Consequently the daily papers will educate the people with regard to it, so the terms epithelioma, malignancy and infiltration will be as well understood as in former times were those of suppuration, pus, etc. As might have been anticipated, under the circumstances, published reports of the general's condition were very much exaggerated. The disease is by no means as extensive as is generally believed. In fact, the ulcerations are small in extent, and are limited to the right pillars of the fauces, the anterior one being perforated at its base, adjoining the right side. The root of the tongue is indurated to a slight extent, as is also the neighboring gland. To the right of the median line are three small, warty-like excrescences, which show a tendency toward cell proliferation. The epiglottis is free from any abnormality, as are all other parts of the throat, although induration of the tongue has existed more or less since last fall, when the patient was first seen by Dr. Douglas. The ulcerations have appeared quite recently. It was during their progress that the general suffered from pain in the right ear, which has now been entirely relieved by local application of a 4 per cent. solution of cocaine. Under the same treatment all pain in deglutition is now entirely controlled, and the patient kept in a very comfortable state. The pulse, which is normally sixty per minute, occasionally reaches eighty beats. The bodily temperature is normal. The appetite is fair, which is saying everything in its favor as the general is not a hearty eater. His bodily condition is, however, much below par, and is more to be considered at present than local disease. Treatment of the case has been judiciously conservative from the start. Fluid extract of cocoa is administered internally, and iodoform is dusted from the ulcerations. Contrary to general impression the tongue itself is not ulcerated, nor has it been as far as we can learn at any time during progress of the disease. The troublesome tooth said to have been extracted for relief of lingual ulceration was on the opposite or sound side of the mouth, and was removed to relieve the persistent ache in the left ear.

HOW GRANT RECEIVED THE GOOD NEWS.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—The Chronicle's New York special says: "Yesterday, while Gen. Grant was engaged in writing on his memoirs, he was handed an envelope by a servant, containing a telegram. He opened it slowly, thinking it was only one of the many expressions of sympathy with which he has been flooded lately. As his eyes ran over the message his hands trembled slightly and change of color spread over his usually impassive face. He called his wife, and when she came he handed her the announcement that had just come from Washington, that the retirement bill had been passed and signed by the president. The general was visibly affected by this tardy recognition of his services by his countrymen. After the first shock from the good news wore off the general relapsed into his usual stoical condition, and remained for a long time in deep meditation. He then folded his materials and ceased work for the day. His condition seemed steadily to improve, and he ate more heartily of the minced meat, terrapin and liquid for his evening meal, and seemed to enjoy his food more than he has for several weeks. In the afternoon he ordered his carriage and took a drive for about two hours in the park, and returned greatly refreshed."

GENERAL GRANT'S CONDITION.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Dr. Douglass said last night, "General Grant has had a red letter day for him. He has eaten heartily, been out riding and seemed considerably improved. The condition of his throat is no better and progress of the disease has not been checked."

NEW YORK, March 5.—Grant's condition is much improved to-day. He passed a good night.

GRANT'S MEMOIRS.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Charles L. Webster & Co. of this city will publish Grant's personal reminiscences. The book will be in two 500 page volumes and will be sold only by subscription. The first volume is ready for the press, and will soon be printed. Grant is working daily upon the second volume which is well advanced.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

BOOMER LEADERS IN CUSTODY.

WICHITA, Ks., March 5.—Deputy United States Marshal Rarick, of Arkansas City, arrived here at noon to-day, with the following Oklahoma boomers in custody: W. L. Couch, H. H. Stafford, C. E. Streeter, J. W. Eichelberger, A. McCord, D. C. Odell, W. H. Miller, George F. Brown and A. G. Statle. They were arraigned severally before United States commissioner Sherman. The complaint was sworn to by Lieutenant M. W. Day. They are charged with unlawfully, maliciously and feloniously inciting, assisting and engaging in a rebellion and insurrection against the authorities of the United States. The boomers were [illegible] represented by counsel. Each pleaded not guilty and waived preliminary examination. They were bound over in the sum of $1,000 each to the United States district court, an adjourned term of which will convene here the 16th instant. All furnished bonds.

ARKANSAS CITY, Ks., March 5.—There are about 400 of Couch's boomers in camp here and it is expected there will be 1000 by Sunday, to start for the territory. [illegible] on account of the arrest of the leaders of the movement and the [illegible] condition of the roads. The troops are already in the territory, under command of Major Fletcher.

THE TEXAS STRIKE.

The Strikers Making Affairs Uncomfortable for Jay Gould

DENISON, TEXAS, March 5.—At noon to-day the Missouri Pacific Company moved all their engines at this point across the Red river into Indian territory, for safety. It is understood the entire force of employes in the machine shops will refuse to return to work to-morrow, at request from strikers at other points in Texas. There are 100 cars of freight here awaiting forwarding. Everything is quiet.

A special from Longview says: The strikers to-day rescinded the resolution to stop passenger trains, but there is much talk of stopping passengers to-morrow. The yard is full of freight awaiting shipment. A few section men agreed to the terms of the company to-day, and returned to work.

All the men employes of the Texas Pacific were this afternoon notified that they were suspended indefinitely. This suspension works hardships, as the Sherman employes were willing to accept a reduction. It is rumored that the company has determined to run no trains until the strike is over.

AT FORT WORTH.

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 5.—At 7 o'clock this morning men employed in the Texas and Missouri Pacific railroad shops quit work. All switch and freight engines in the yard were killed, and to-night sixteen dead engines are in the yard round house. This morning all east-bound freight trains were side tracked in the yards and the engines taken to the round house and killed. No freight trains will be allowed to pass through the yards. Passenger trains will not be molested. The strikers are in groups, discussing the situation, but orderly. About 300 loaded and empty cars stand in the tracks. A train load of California fruit, bound east, and a number of cattle are among the detained freight. This evening the strikers received news that several freight trains from the north would arrive. They assembled at the north end of the yard, intending to sidetrack the trains and kill the engines. The trains were intercepted by wire and turned back toward Denison. The strikers are holding a meeting to-night to determine what further steps to take, to bring the company to terms.

ACCIDENTS.

FRIGHTFUL DISASTER AT ALLEGHENY CITY.

PITTSBURG, March 5.—This evening Frank Kunkle, a teamster living in Grant alley, Allegheny City, placed on a stove to boil a mixture of turpentine, tar and linseed oil, which he had been told would cure a horse of lameness. In the room at the time besides Kunkle was his daughter Annie, aged 7 years, a son aged 3 years, Julia Walters, 13 years old, and a young man named Dipp. The mixture had been on the stove probably an hour when it boiled over. Instantly it ignited, and a second afterwards an explosion occurred, which scattered scalding liquid and flames in all directions. Young Dipp, with great presence of mind, grabbed up the can with the burning mixture and started for the door, while Kunkle ran to the rescue of the children, whose clothes were a mass of flames. One by one he picked them up and threw them out of the window into the yard and then jumping after them tore the clothes from their bodies. Assistance arrived by this time, and the fire having been extinguished the little sufferers were carried back to the house. Annie was burned to a crisp and died in a short time in great agony. Julia Walters was also terribly burned, the flesh peeling off her arms and legs. She is still living, and suffering intensely. Slight hope, however, is entertained for her recovery. The little boy was badly burned about the face and arms, but will recover. Young Dipp had the flesh burnt off his hands and arms, and Kunkle was painfully but not seriously injured. The damage to the house by fire was very slight.

SEVERAL PERSONS KILLED AND INJURED.

WILMINGTON, N. C., March 5.—The boiler of the steamer "Wave" exploded this afternoon. The boat was completely wrecked. Neil Jessup, James Statman and Kitty Harvey, all colored, were blown into the river and drowned. Perry Cotton, colored pilot, and Dave McPherson were badly scalded. Several other employes were slightly injured. The boat was valued at $10,000.

CALIFORNIA.

SAILORS ON A STRIKE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—Coasting sailors are out on a strike. They refuse to work at the present rate of wages, $25 a month, and ask an increase to $30. A body of strikers visited several vessels ready to sail and persuaded the crews to join them. All coasting vessels will receive the same attention. Owners of vessels assert that at present business is exceedingly dull for coasters, and it is an unfavorable time for sailors to strike.

RENEWAL OF A STRIKE.

Signs of a renewal of the strike of iron workers are again appearing. The helpers in the Union iron works who struck on the announcement of a reduction of their wages from $2 to $1.75 a day, were reinforced yesterday by the moulders of the same establishment, who claim that they would not continue work until helpers were provided for them.

NEWSPAPER TRANSFER.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—Colonel John P. Jackson yesterday transferred his interest in the Daily Evening Post to Postmaster Samuel Backus. The Post will hereafter be conducted by General John F. Sheehan and General Backus.

SEVERAL BUILDINGS BURNED.

Fire this morning destroyed a number of small buildings and contents at the corner of Market and Fourth streets. The buildings were owned by J. C. Flood. Total loss, $15,000, mostly upon merchandise.

SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE.

Arrived—Ship Dashing Wave, Tacoma. Cleared—Steamer Beda, Astoria. Sailed—Steamer Columbia, Astoria.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

POISONED HIMSELF AND WIFE.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 5.—A private telephonic message from Burnett gives an account of the self poisoning of August Scheffers and wife. The husband administered a terrible dose to his wife, and then calmly awaited her death, when he committed suicide by taking a dose of the same drug. Domestic unhappiness was the cause of the tragedy. It is not known that the wife was a consenting party to the poisoning. The couple leave a [illegible]-old child.

[illegible] LYNCHED.

[illegible], N. C., March 5.—Wednesday morning at Monroe, Union county, masked men overpowered the jailer and took out Lee Stanton, [illegible]. Stanton was charged with [illegible].

A BANK TELLER ABSCONDS.

[illegible], March 5.—John R. Warren, treasurer of the National Fulton County bank, [illegible].

HANGED AT LAST.

THE FIRE RECORD.

LOSSES IN FEBRUARY.

NEW YORK, March 5.—The Daily Commercial Bulletin estimates the aggregate fire loss of February at $10,000,000—50 per cent. more than the average loss in February for ten years past. Including January, some $18,500,000 worth of property has burned up thus far in 1885.

FOREIGN DISPATCHES.

Bismarck Charged with Deceiving England

PROOFS OF FALSEHOOD GIVEN

LONDON, March 5.—In the commons this afternoon Gladstone's [illegible] policy forbade his answering questions respecting the Russo-Afghan frontier difficulty.

The marquis of Hartington announced that the government intended to increase the strength of the army. The marquis of Hartington said [illegible] were found to be in the form of a substitute for dispatches to the government; the government would treat them as such; if found of a private character his relatives would be consulted about them.

Lord Edmund Fitzmaurice, under secretary of foreign affairs, said Sir Edward Malet, British ambassador, had exchanged with Germany assurances of neutrality in regard to the Samoan and Tonga islands. He, however, declined to say whether Sir Peter Lumsden, British commissioner on the Afghanistan frontier question, had offered his resignation.

Marquis Hartington said the government thought any advance by General Brackenbury from Suakim for the relief of the garrison at Kassala, impossible. He said the government was unprepared to state the number of additional men they intended to recall in the army.

In the house of lords this evening Earl Derby said England formerly possessed undoubted rights along St. Lucia bay. These had been in abeyance for some time before the raising of the British flag at different points in the Cameroon mountains. The boundary of the Cameroons territory occupied by Germany was at present the subject of correspondence between London and Berlin.

The commons voted £4,500,000 for extra naval expenses in Egypt and for the construction of ironclads.

The garrisons in Ireland will not be further reduced.

DISABLED STEAMERS PASSED.

LONDON, March 5.—The steamer Rhaetia, from New York for Hamburg, passed the Lizard. The Rhaetia passed on Monday the steamer Gothenburg City, from London February 12th for Boston. The Gothenburg City's propeller was gone, and she was making for Queenstown under sail.

BISMARCK TAKEN TO TASK.

The London Times' Correspondent Accuses Him with Employing Fraud

LONDON, March 5.—Blowitz, the Times' correspondent at Berlin, in a letter attacks Bismarck for unfairness in dealings with the British foreign office concerning the South Pacific islands. In the blue book on this subject, issued by the British government February 25, the text is given of a conversation early in February between Bismarck and Malet, British ambassador at Berlin. The German chancellor then read a dispatch, which he said had been sent to Count Munster, German ambassador at London, the 5th of the preceding May, which purported to convey to England Bismarck's idea of how Great Britain could assist Germany in his colonization schemes, and his promise to reciprocate by helping English interests nearer home. The dispatch urged England to fall in with the suggestions made, because in the event of refusal Germany would be compelled to accept French aid. The chancellor told Malet that as Count Munster seemed to make no progress it was feared in Berlin he had not stated the point of the dispatch with sufficient strength, so Count Herbert Bismarck was sent to London to assure success of the negotiations. Herbert obtained from the British foreign office nothing but general assurances of friendship. These were fruitless, Bismarck said.

"When Malet expressed regret at the situation and assured Bismarck that England had no desire to thwart Germany's colonial ambitions, and asked him what he wanted, New Guinea or Zululand, the Chancellor replied it was now too late to discuss the matter with England, because Germany already had an understanding with France.

CHARGED WITH FALSEHOOD.

Blowitz accuses Bismarck of direct falsehood in these statements. He refers to the fact that Bismarck read the original dispatch to Malet as proof that it was never sent to London. Bismarck, Blowitz says, proceeded as if this dispatch had been sent to London to form the basis of an alliance between England and Germany concerning colonial annexations, as if its rejection by England had been formally and deliberately made; as if this rejection were an endorsement by England of the German-French alliance, and gave Germany certain liberty in the South Pacific, and then, when asked for an explanation about his encroachments on British possessions, produced as his warrant the original dispatch. This production, Blowitz avers, was made nine months after the date of the dispatch and just when it suited Bismarck's purpose. The introduction of this system, says Blowitz, must create a panic in the political world. With such suppressed dispatches a strong power can do as it likes, and turn night into right at any time by abolishing all international law.

SOME PROOFS.

To prove his assertion that the dispatch read to Malet was never sent to London, Blowitz points to the fact that Granville, British foreign minister, February 1, immediately after Sir Edward Malet had communicated to him the Bismarck interview, wrote to Sir Edward: "The dispatch in question was never communicated to me." Dr. Blowitz contends it was impossible for the dispatch to have miscarried or been forgotten, because Count Munster would have resigned if he knew Lord Granville had seen the dispatch before making such statement, while if Count Munster had really received the dispatch, and failed to transmit it to the British foreign minister, Bismarck would have recalled Munster for neglect of duty. The fact that Herbert Bismarck, who the German chancellor alleges, was sent to London to second Munster in his efforts to secure a colonial alliance with England, failed to discover that the very dispatch which contained the terms of his mission had never reached Granville, Dr. Blowitz pronounces very strange. He declares the truth is, Bismarck did not believe England would give Germany the assistance desired, and he knew better how to succeed with France. Behind the mission of his son Bismarck intended to put England in the wrong. He proposed to confront England with the accomplished fact.

EUROPEAN POLITICS.

THE RUSSIAN QUESTION.

LONDON, March 5.—Baron Mohrenheim, Russian ambassador, had an interview with Gladstone to-day to communicate the contents of a number of important dispatches received from his government regarding the Russo-Afghan frontier question.

RUSSIA'S REPLY TO ENGLAND.

LONDON, March 5.—Dispatches were handed to Gladstone this afternoon by the Russian ambassador. They were from the Russian minister of foreign affairs, who denies that the Russian occupation of disputed passes and towns was designed to repudiate all decisions of the joint commission on the Russo-Afghan frontier. He says the advance of Russians from Pulikhatun was only [illegible] after the Afghans in July last [illegible] the organization of [illegible] commission, [illegible] Russians occupied [illegible], where the Afghans [illegible] the advice of the Russians. The Russian minister does not demand the right of Russia to hold the disputed points, but refuses to withdraw until the commission [illegible].

THE FIRST CROSS RAISED.

LONDON, March 5.—A dispatch from Teheran states that insurgent native chiefs of [illegible] have already raised the [illegible] and proclaimed in favor of Russia.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The Daily News says: "Our relations with Russia are perhaps not exactly strained, but events of a single day might put upon them a strain difficult to bear."

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 5.—The Novoe Vremya warns the English government that the malicious designs of Bismarck will cause a rupture between England and Russia.

GERMANY'S BIG GRAB.

LONDON, March 5.—The territory annexed by Germany on the east coast of Africa is twice the territorial area of Prussia. The Pall Mall Gazette states that the territory surrounds Zanzibar, and the intention seems to be to make the sultan of Zanzibar dependent on Germany rather than England.

All the morning papers express a hope that Count Herbert Bismarck's visit will result in reconciling Germany and England.

BERLIN, March 5.—Dr. Rohlfs, recently appointed German agent sent to negotiate for a German protectorate over Zanzibar, has formally informed the sultan of Zanzibar that 2500 square miles of territory acquired in his dominions by the German colonization society has been placed under German protection, and that he, Dr. Rohlfs, has been appointed German consular judge for this territory.

THE SOUDANESE WAR.

CONFERENCE OF COLONIAL AGENTS INVITED.

LONDON, March 5.—The Pall Mall Gazette yesterday stated that Lord Derby, colonial secretary, has invited colonial agents resident in London to attend a conference on offers made by the colonies to furnish the home government with troops for service in the Soudan.

COLONIAL OFFERS ACCEPTED.

LONDON, March 5.—At the Empire club banquet this evening the resident colonial general of New South Wales announced that the government had accepted the colonial offers of troops for service in the Soudan.

EXPENSES OF THE SOUDAN CAMPAIGN.

LONDON, March 5.—The supplementary official estimate provides an increase of 5000 men in the military service and shows expenses of the Soudan campaign to the end of March at $5,[illegible].

DISCONTENT INCREASING.

ALEXANDRIA, March 5.—Signs of discontent among natives against British rule are increasing. Threats against the life of Stephenson, English commander, are frequently heard in the streets.

THE INDIAN CONTINGENT.

SUAKIM, March 5.—General Hudson, commanding the Indian contingent of the Suakim expedition, landed to-day.

CANADA'S OFFER OF AID.

OTTAWA, March 5.—No information has been received here of the imperial authorities accepting offers of Canadian volunteers. Rumors are current that the imperial government has been asking how soon the Canadian Pacific railway will be available for transportation of troops.

CANADA.

MEETING OF SECESSIONISTS.

CHICAGO, March 5.—Daily News' Winnipeg special: Farmers of the province met here to-day. Many accessions are being received to the ranks of the secessionists and annexationists. Resolutions were passed denouncing Premier Norquay for failing to secure concessions from the dominion government, calling for redistribution of seats and appealing to the country. An uprising is really feared.

THE DOMINION GRANGE.

TORONTO, March 5.—The dominion grange to-day adopted the report of the committee on temperance, recommending the grange to support the Scott act. The grange also condemned railway monopoly. A petition to the Dominion government favored having uniform grades for wheat and barley to be fixed by statute, the standard for which should be in possession of all buyers.

AFRICA.

TROUBLE WITH CAMEROON NATIVES.

LONDON, March 5.—Advices from Cameroons of the date of January 11 says the Hickorytown premises and portions of [illegible]town, Moskoko and Bellstown were burned to the ground, and the natives sought refuge in the bush. King Bell was afraid to return. The two chiefs commenced a peace palaver, after the German admiral had sent two of his officers as hostages, to the country. The admiral notified the rebel chiefs that they must pay for the losses of English residents. The German judge will shortly adjudicate upon the claims. During the palaver hostile natives repeatedly plundered English and German factories.

RAILROAD NOTES.

THE UNION PACIFIC MEETING.

BOSTON, March 5.—The Union Pacific transfer books were closed to-day for the annual meeting the 25th inst. In connection with the report that President Adams had sold out his interest in Union Pacific stock, Adams says that some time ago he came to the conclusion that anything in the nature of speculative transaction upon his part would interfere with the discharge of his duties as president. He then sold out all the stock which he held not fully paid for, but his holding of Union Pacific is intact.

NORTHERN PACIFIC EARNINGS.

NEW YORK, March 5.—The gross earnings of the Northern Pacific railroad for February are reported at $569,562, an increase over February last year of $19,477.

AN OBJECTION MADE TO BAYARD

The Senate Defers Action for One Day—The President Besieged by a Host of Office-Seekers and Friends—Capital Notes

WASHINGTON, March 5.—President Cleveland has sent to the senate the following nominations: Secretary of state, Thomas F. Bayard of Delaware; secretary of the treasury, Daniel Manning of New York; secretary of war, William E. Endicott of Massachusetts; secretary of the navy, William C. Whitney of New York; secretary of the interior, L. Q. C. Lamar of Mississippi; postmaster general, William F. Vilas of Wisconsin; attorney general, A. H. Garland of Arkansas.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The public galleries of the senate were again to-day crowded to the utmost limits, and long before noon a crowd gathered about every doorkeeper, pleading in vain for admission. The senate clock, which Captain Bassett with his cane set back ten minutes yesterday, had recovered the lost time.

Promptly at 12 the vice president entered from a door on the left of the presidential desk, accompanied by Rev. Dr. Butler, pastor of the Lutheran Memorial church of this city. The galleries applauded Hendricks, which manifestation its recipient abruptly terminated with the gavel. The senators arose at this summons, and Dr. Butler offered prayer. Upon its conclusion the vice president took the chair, and was again greeted with plaudits by the occupants of the galleries. He called the senate to order, and in a voice only audible to the clerks called for the reading of the journal.

The journal having been read, Allison, Beck and Voorhees, the committee yesterday appointed to wait on the president of the United States and inform him that a quorum of the senate was present and ready to receive any communication he might deem proper to make, reported that they had performed their duty and the president had responded that he would communicate with the senate forthwith.

In less than a minute there was announced a message from the president of the United States.

Sherman at once moved that the senate proceed to the consideration of executive business. The motion was unanimously agreed to and the senate went into executive session.

When the cabinet nominations were taken up in executive session Riddleberger objected to immediate consideration of the nomination of Bayard. He stated briefly that he did so because of Bayard's attitude on the Irish question. Riddleberger thought him more English than American.

Bayard's name being first on the list, consideration went over, under the rules of the senate, for a day.

When the doors were reopened the senate adjourned till to-morrow.

THE PRESIDENT.

He Receives many Distinguished Callers during the Day

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The White house presents a busy scene to-day. A stream of callers poured into the mansion from the hour the doors opened until late in the day. The president had an early breakfast and then completed the organization of his cabinet and directed that their names be sent to the senate. A number of organizations visited the house before noon and were received by the president in the east room. Prominent among these were the Samuel J. Randall Club, the Americus Club, and the Young Men's Democratic Club, all of Philadelphia; the Kings County Club of Brooklyn, and a delegation from the county democracy of New York. The justices of the United States supreme court, headed by Chief Justice Waite, called about 12 o'clock and and were received in the blue parlor. Members of the national democratic committee were next received. Many other prominent persons called to pay their respects and kept the president engaged the entire day.

No changes have yet been made in the force employed at the White House, except that of Colonel Daniel S. Lamont, occupying the office of private secretary to the president, instead of Fred J. Phillips, who of course was relieved with Mr. Arthur. The president's mail to-day was very large. It consisted principally of letters of congratulation. Many of them, however, related to appointments.

A PUBLIC RECEPTION.

Subsequently the democratic phalanx of Albany called on the president in a body. They were followed by detachments of clubs from Ohio, New Jersey, Maryland, Kansas, Missouri and elsewhere. The president then gave notice that he would receive all who might choose to come between 2 and 4 o'clock, and during that time thousands of strangers paid their respects to the chief magistrate. The president received them in the east room, and shook hands with all. The crowd passed through in single file, and owing to the immense number presenting themselves, it was found necessary to dispense with the formality of introduction. The president, however, recognized many acquaintances in the line, and greeted them by name. There was a large number of colored people among the visitors. The president bore the trying ordeal well, and greeted each person with a pleasant smile and a hearty grasp of the hand. Visiting militia and civic organizations which had not previously called in a body were well represented. Governor Pattison of Pennsylvania and staff were prominent among the visitors.

All members of ex-President Arthur's cabinet, with the exception of Secretaries Frelinghuysen and Teller, occupied their usual desks and attended all business requiring action at their hands. Secretary Frelinghuysen was detained at home by ill-health, and Secretary Teller, whose resignation as secretary of the interior was accepted yesterday, was at the capitol. Those on duty received many callers.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—One of President Cleveland's first acts in connection with his official household was a decision to retain Pruden as assistant to private secretary Lamont. Pruden was appointed by President Grant as bearer of presidential communications to either house of congress, and during so many administrations has become a familiar figure to all who are connected in any way with affairs at the capitol. His ability is heartily commended by members of both parties and representatives of the press.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

EACH PARTY HOLDS A CAUCUS.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—There were short senatorial caucuses of both parties after the adjournment of the senate to-day. The democrats effected organization, selecting Beck as chairman and Kenna as secretary. The chairman was authorized to appoint a committee of nine to arrange the minority membership of the committees. A resolution was adopted thanking Senators Pendleton and Jones for their courtesy and efficiency in the discharge of their duties as chairman and secretary, respectively, of the democratic caucus. The republicans are reticent about their proceedings. It is understood some discussion took place regarding the liability of caucus secrets to become public, and that organization of the committees was referred to, but action remitted to a future caucus, to be called when the preference of the senators shall have become better known.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—One of the last official acts of Speaker Carlisle was the appointment of Holman, Hatch (Missouri), Cannon and Ryan as the committee authorized by the legislative appropriation bill to investigate the expenditure of the appropriation for Indian schools and the administration of laws relative to the Yellowstone park.

THE "BACKBONE" GRANT.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—One of the last acts of Secretary Teller was to issue patents for lands in Louisiana granted to aid the construction of the New Orleans and Pacific railroad. These lands, embracing about 700,000 acres, are comprised in what is commonly known as the "backbone" grant.

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 6 1885

THE CABINET

Washington was the only president who formed a cabinet to represent both political parties in the administration of the government. He was a federalist, and his first cabinet was composed of three members of the dominant party and two members of the opposition. This attempt to give both parties a voice in the administration was acknowledged to be a political mistake, and no president has since entertained the idea, the invariable rule having been to give to the "party in power those places where harmony and vigor of administration require its policy to be represented." There have been, however, two widely different ideas respecting the composition of the cabinet: the one adopted by President Lincoln, who placed at the head of the different departments the ablest representatives of the republican party, and the other adopted by President Grant, who selected his cabinet as he had his personal staff while in command of the army. There was no reason to expect that President Cleveland would depart from the invariable rule and invite any but democrats to seats in the cabinet. He has distinctly asserted that this is to be a democratic administration. It will be noticed that he has adopted a sort of compromise between the Lincoln and Grant ideas and made his cabinet partly representative and partly personal. Bayard, Garland, Lamar and, though less prominently, Endicott are representative democrats, who have stood before the country for many years as exponents and defenders of their party. Manning, Whitney and Vilas on the other hand have been selected as the president's personal friends, because of their personal rather than their party devotion.

Thomas Francis Bayard, secretary of state, is one of the best and most favorably known of the democrats. He is the third in direct line in his family in the senate, having succeeded his father and been a senator for sixteen years. Although a member of the judiciary committee, he has made more reputation in the part he has taken as a member, and, when the democrats were in control, as the chairman of the finance committee. There is no doubt but what his natural preference would be for the secretaryship of the treasury. He has great dignity and conservatism. If he will be lacking in anything it will be in aggressive qualities, but as there are no issues pending which will call forth qualities of this kind it is probable that he will make a very satisfactory secretary of state. He will have great influence in the cabinet.

Augustus H Garland, the attorney general, is one of the ablest lawyers in the senate. He was a member of the lower house of the confederate congress and afterwards in the confederate senate. When first chosen to represent Arkansas in the United states senate he was refused admission on the ground that the state was not then regularly restored to the Union. He made a national reputation for himself by raising the constitutionality of the law requiring lawyers to take the test oath before being permitted to practice in the United States courts. He won his case, as is shown in Vol. 4 of Wallace's reports of the supreme court. He followed the practice of law until 1874. He was elected governor of Arkansas, and by his great coolness and judgment was influencial in settling all the disputes in that state as to which faction should have control of the state government. He was elected to the United States senate in 1876, succeeding Powell Clayton. He was re-elected in 1883, so that he has a place in the senate which will endure one year longer than the term of the next administration. From his great popularity in his own state it is certain that he could remain in the senate the rest of his life if he should so choose. But it is his legal ambition which would lead him to give up the senate. He has been one of the most loyal of the southern senators since the war, and has never been prominent in the foolish political discussions in the senate when the old issues of the war have been brought up for partisan discussion.

Lucius Q. C. Lamar, secretary of the interior, served a short time in congress from Mississippi before the war, but he made no particular mark then. During the rebellion he was, until 1863, a lieutenant colonel in a Mississippi regiment. In that year he was sent as minister of the confederate government to Russia. He was regarded by Mr Davis as the ablest of the confederates, and was sent upon that mission because it was regarded as the most difficult. Russia was the most friendly of the European powers to the cause of the Union. After the war he was returned to congress, when he made a national reputation by eulogizing Charles Sumner. That speech did more perhaps to restore harmony between the north and the south than any other one cause. There was a rebellion against him in his own state on account of it, but he was sufficiently a leader to bring his people around to his view after he had made elaborate explanations at home. His theory was then and still is that the prosperity of the south almost wholly depends upon the existence of friendly relations between it and the north. His next marked public accomplishment was his diplomatic management of the southern interests in 1876 and 1877. It was he who conducted the negotiations whereby the southern states secured their state governments and Hayes was counted in. He was conspicuous again for refusing to obey the instructions of the Mississippi legislature when it requested him to vote for an inflation bill before the senate or resign. He refused to resign and voted with the hard money people. He canvassed the state on that issue and secured finally the indorsement of his people. He has probably more influence in the south to-day than any other one man.

William C Whitney, secretary of the navy, is a native of Massachusetts, but a resident of New York city, where he became the corporation counsel—an appointive office—on the downfall of the Tweed ring. The position had amounted to little for many years, but now it suddenly became important—partly because of the mass of litigation over fraudulent claims against the city, but largely through Whitney's celerity, energy and ability in clearing off the cases. This achievement established his reputation as a lawyer and he maintained it during his continuance in this office, which he at length voluntarily resigned. During his early political career he was a protege of Samuel J. Tilden, for whom he labored hard in 1876, and into whose cabinet he would unquestionably have gone had the sage of Greystone been elected. His greatest political performance was the organization of the county democracy in New York city. The work was his entirely, in the inception and very largely so in the achievement. It is his hand that has struck what looks like the death-blow to Tammany. He married a daughter of Senator Payne of Ohio. He will be a valuable adviser of Cleveland, for few politicians better than he are qualified to be a sound cabinet adviser and he will also contribute an element of unpopularity to the administration by reason of his sympathies and interests with the Ohio Paynes and their monopoly, but such entertainments as Mrs. Whitney could be depended on to give would ornament the social side of the administration.

Judge William C Endicott, secretary of war, was born in Salem, Massachusetts. He was appointed by Governor Washburn to a seat on the supreme bench in 1873. This position he held until 1882, when he resigned on account of his health. In 1882 he made an extended tour of the continent. He was a member of the Salem common council in 1852, 1853 and 1857, when he was elected president of that body. He was city solicitor from 1858 to 1863. He is a member of the Massachusetts Historical society and of the board of overseers of Harvard college. Mr Endicott is a direct descendant from Governor John Endicott. Until the Bell and Everett campaign he was an old line whig. At that time he went into the democratic party. As a lawyer he has been very thorough, and in pleading he is very dignified. As a judge he stood high in rank. He has never been prominent in politics but was the nominee of the democratic party of Massachusetts for the governorship last year.

William F. Vilas, postmaster general, is a native of Vermont. He commanded a Wisconsin regiment during the war. He has since been a very successful lawyer in Madison, and has filled several positions of public trust. He is one of the professors of law in the Wisconsin state university law school, and a regular lecturer on [illegible] and evidence. He was for three years [illegible] of the Wisconsin [illegible] secretary of [illegible]. He was one of the three leading attorneys appointed to revise the statutes of Wisconsin in 1875, and personally superintended the publication of the revision. He is one of the most active members of the Wisconsin board of state university regents. Colonel Vilas was one of the delegates from Wisconsin to the democratic national convention at Chicago and officiated as president of the convention, being prominently mentioned himself for a place on the ticket. He afterwards made the speech of notification to Cleveland and Hendricks. He is now member from Madison in the lower house of the Wisconsin legislature—the first elective office he ever held—and is the leader of the democratic side of the house. His national reputation as a lawyer began with his famous eulogy of General Grant at the Chicago banquet on the return of Grant from his tour around the world.

President Cleveland has done an unusual thing in taking two members of his cabinet from one state, and his choice of Daniel Manning of Albany for secretary of the treasury will cause more dissatisfaction in his own party and do more to prejudice his administration at the outset than any of his appointments. Mr Manning began to earn his living when a boy in the Argus office, and it was there that he acquired all his education and experience. Politics was the principal business of the Argus, and the boy took to it as a duck does to swimming. Mr. William J Cassidy, the owner of the Argus, was not slow in discovering the peculiar talents of his errand boy, and made him a reporter before he was 15 years old. Manning acquired in this position an extensive acquaintance with public men, as the Argus office was then the headquarters of the northern democracy, and he became early initiated in the mysteries of political wire-pulling. While Tweed ruled New York Manning saw his opportunity and secured rich pickings for the Argus Company without ever actually identifying himself or the paper with the Tweed ring. When Tilden came to the front Manning and the Argus were anything but friendly to him until it became evident that Tweed was doomed to ruin. As soon as Tilden was elected governor Manning turned completely around and protected the fat printing contracts of the Argus from investigation during Tilden's reform administration by becoming the very organ of the reformer by force of circumstances. In 1876 he became a member of the state central committee, in which he has ever since been considered as authorized to speak for Mr Tilden. Becoming chairman of that body in 1882 he espoused the cause of Cleveland with great vigor, although strongly opposed to the latter's nomination at first. Together with Lamont and Apgar, both trusted lieutenants of Tilden, he formed Cleveland's political counsel and practically controlled the patronage. Lately he withdrew from the active management of the Argus and devoted himself to the management of the Commercial National bank, of which he has been president for several years. During the last campaign he announced his intention to withdraw from politics on the election of Cleveland, and it is quite probable that he was sincere in this. He never would hold public office, realizing that a politician is more powerful behind the scenes than in a public position, where the public has a right to inquire into his every act. Nobody knows whether Mr. Manning holds any decided opinions on public questions, as he is very taciturn by nature, and studiously avoids giving expression to his own views. He is believed to be just the man to do whatever seems best for his party.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

There is an effort on the part of certain democratic members of the legislature since they have reached their homes to make party capital out of the defeat by republican votes of the bill for a constitutional convention. It seems almost useless to state objections which must have presented themselves already to all who have given the subject five minutes' thought, but it is perhaps as well to set forth the facts which prompted republican action, so that there may be no demagogic deception in the matter. It was argued against the proposition for a convention that the people had not demanded a new constitution, and, this being the fact, that it might very properly be assumed that they did not want one: that the state was now fairly well governed and its affairs economically administered and, consequently, there was no need of a new constitution; that the charges of preparing a new constitution and of submitting it to the people for ratification would be not less than $40,000, a sum which it was felt the state could not afford in the stress of hard times for an experiment of doubtful wisdom and uncertain outcome; that an important feature of any constitution which could be made would be a general increase of state salaries, a species of generosity not in the spirit of a season of hard times; that it is not a proper time to establish a permanent fundamental law while the state is experimenting in certain economic lines and while serious problems are still unsolved, notably the problems of assessment and fiscal regulation; that it would not now be possible to enact wise regulations for the control of railroads while our roads are not yet completed and while their operation and effect are still matters of speculation and theory; that it was not wise to create a fixed fundamental law at a time when business distress has fresh hatched innumerable false economic schemes, while many citizens of the state are under the beguilement of specious demagogues and while jealousies and misunderstandings divide certain sections into antagonistic factions.

These were considerations which naturally had weight and authority with the republican majority, which having power in its hands was responsible to the people, and which, on the other hand, might naturally be disregarded by the democratic minority having no responsibility for a mistake, and from any possible outcome only a prospect of advantage. That there was no disposition to "oppose the wishes of the people," but on the contrary, a desire to learn and to follow them, was sufficiently demonstrated by the adoption of a plan for submitting the question to popular vote at the next general election. These were the considerations which prompted reconsideration of the bill in the house after it had been adopted by a single vote. Watt's protest was a piece of fulsome bunkum which meant as little, indeed very much less than it said. Any effort to "make capital" out of this matter against the republicans is an effort to make something out of nothing. If there is any "capital" in it, it should rightly be for the advantage of the party which put brakes upon a hasty proposition and forced a delay till the people could express their wishes.

READJUSTER TROUBLES.

After the Virginia readjusters had scaled the debt of the state one-third and the interest one-half they issued new bonds for what was left, a part of the contract with the creditors being that the coupons of the bonds should be receivable for taxes. The tax-paying quality of course imparted to the bonds much of their value. Casting about for further means of fleecing the creditors, these eminent financiers hit upon the plan of requiring that coupons offered for taxes should be tested by a court and jury to see that they were genuine. The pretext for this plan was that it was necessary to protect the state against counterfeit coupons which were declared to be current. But the expense of the test was a practical prohibition of the use of the coupons for tax paying. This law was declared constitutional by the United States supreme court two years ago, the court deciding that the national government cannot interfere to prevent repudiation of a state debt, though it [illegible] the constitutional provision forbidding the impairment of contracts by state laws. On the strength of the impaired contract clause in this opinion, the United States circuit court at Norfolk, has now enjoined the state authorities from refusing to receive coupons in payment of taxes. Governor Cameron has ordered the collectors to refuse to receive the coupons save in the manner provided by law, and a conflict of state and national authorities is likely to ensue. Some of the leading democratic papers of the state say that the decision of the circuit which overrides the state law requiring coupons to be proved genuine, is not good law and [illegible] not morally binding.

The real trouble however is practically admitted by one of these papers, which says that the people of the state are restive because they question the obligation of the debt. They do not like the bargain which the law imposes, and are in a frame of mind to repudiate the whole debt. The fear is therefore felt that Mahone may take advantage of the crisis to put his party against the payment of any of the debt, and so carry a share of the colored and a good share of the white votes and [illegible] himself into power in the state. The state's real intentions and purposes to repudiate its obligations which created the debt and the swindle keeps coming back to torment the inventors. Before they get through they may be convinced that honesty is the best policy. Repudiation is bad enough in itself, but repudiation and Mahone together are too much, even for Virginia.

"FIRST IN WAR," ETC

A reader of THE OREGONIAN writes: "Will you inform us as to the authorship of the familiar description of the character and virtues of Washington, viz: 'First in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen?' And can you give us a history of the first use of these imperishable words?" The author was General Henry Lee of Virginia. In the revolutionary war he was commander of a corps known as "Lee's Legion," and he himself was familiarly known as "Lighthorse Harry." He was greatly trusted by Washington, who gave him command of the expedition against the whisky insurgents of western Pennsylvania in 1794. Supported by the influence of Washington, he was elected governor of Virginia, and was a representative in congress at the time of Washington's death. Born, as Washington was, in Westmoreland county, and representing the district in which Washington lived and died, it naturally fell to him to speak in congress upon the character and public services of the father of his country and upon formal invitation of congress, he prepared and delivered the celebrated eulogy in which the "imperishable words" occur.

Lee, as might be supposed from his intimacy with Washington, was a firm federalist in politics, and an earnest opponent of Jefferson and his principles. With the death of Washington and the defeat of the federal party his public career came to an end, but he always distrusted the principles of Jefferson, and was among those who foretold their consequences. This course caused him to be hated greatly by Jefferson, who, in a letter to one of his political lieutenants, cast an imputation upon Lee's honor. This letter was not published till after Jefferson's death, and Lee then was also dead. But Lee's eldest son, Henry Lee, then a colonel in the army, to vindicate his father's memory, replied to it, and to the reply appended an elaborate review of the character, the writings and the political principles of Thomas Jefferson, making a book which is known to students of our political history as one of the most caustic criticisms in our literature. Colonel Henry Lee died at Paris in 1837. The youngest son of Gen. Henry Lee was Robert E. Lee of confederate fame. This son did not accept the political principles of his father and older brother, but became a state sovereignty man of the Jefferson school, and, though an officer of the army of the United States, asserted that his paramount allegiance was due to Virginia, resigned his commission in the national service, and, as he somewhat pompously expressed it, "drew his sword in defense of his native state." Adherence to the principles of his father and of the father of his country might not have given him a higher military reputation, but it would have secured to him the clearer fame of that large patriotism which places duty to the whole country above duty to a small part of it.

The chaplain of the Iowa state prison writes to a prohibition organ: "When the prohibition amendment was asked for in this state 163 of the 185 convicts confined here at the time put their names to a petition in its favor." No doubt these fellows were very sorry. Those who get caught up usually are. But turn these same fellows out of prison, and in a month nine-tenths of them would be in the liquor shops again.

AN ILLEGAL PROCEEDING

SCHOOL DISTRICT RED HILL, March [illegible]

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The majority of the people of this school district pay no tax, and the district has been controlled by them for several years. At the annual meeting yesterday a taxpayer made a motion to challenge votes on the ground of non-payment of taxes. The chairman, who is not a taxpayer, refused to put the motion, remarking that they had decided four years ago that property qualification was illegal. Then the taxpayer asked that a minute of his motion be made. The chairman submitted a motion to the meeting, that the taxpayer's motion be made a minute of. The meeting voted no, and further declared that the motion to make a minute of the previous motion should not be entered on the minutes of the meeting.

Two of our directors are not taxpayers and were elected by non-taxpayers. One of these directors remarked that before such an unequal law should be enforced they would equalize things with dynamite.

I wish to ask if such proceedings are according to law and if school money can be drawn by a board not legally elected. If illegal what redress is there for those who are the "TAXPAYERS."

[The proceedings were illegal; the directors were not legally elected. Those who are not taxpayers are not qualified according to law to vote or act as directors. School money cannot be drawn by the board if any one is disposed to take legal proceedings to prevent it. The taxpayers, if they don't want to pay the levy, have only to apply to a competent court for an injunction to restrain the collection.—ED.]

BRIEF MENTION

[illegible]he ship [illegible] goes down the river [illegible]

[illegible] Wilson as Maraquita in "Girofle-Girofla" to-night.

[illegible] Fagan of Oregon City has been ad[illegible]ed insane and sent to the asylum.

[illegible] entertainment is to be given by the boys' [illegible]rch of the Y. M. C. A. this evening.

[illegible]gene Oliver, under arrest for larceny, was [illegible]harged in the police court yesterday.

[illegible]e British bark Cumbrian was chartered yes[illegible]ay and was towed into Greenwich dock from [illegible]stream.

[illegible]mmencing next Sunday, the collection from [illegible] letter-boxes for the Atlantic express will [illegible]ade at 11 A. M., instead of 10.30.

[illegible] C. Southworth commenced suit in the state [illegible]it court yesterday against N. Thomas et al. [illegible]cover $1000 due on a promissory note.

[illegible]nerant bootblacks, hot chestnuts and fresh[illegible]d peanuts are among the late Astoria ar[illegible]s. Hand-organs are yet to come, says the [illegible]rian.

[illegible]e editor of the Colfax Gazette has bought [illegible] telegraph line between Colfax and Almota. [illegible]t be that he is preparing to become a soul[illegible] monopoly?

[illegible] A. H. Mackay, formerly freight agent of [illegible] Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific at London, [illegible]rio, has been appointed to a similar posi[illegible]here, and began duties yesterday.

[illegible]e bondsmen of Willey, cashier of the bank[illegible] Tacoma bank, have delivered him up to the [illegible]orities, but it is the general opinion that he [illegible]ot be found guilty upon a criminal charge.

[illegible]e steamer Gold Dust, which has been in the [illegible] of the U. S. marshal for a long time, was [illegible]rday ordered to be sold on stipulation. The [illegible] was libeled some months ago by several [illegible]es.

[illegible]e board of trade of Vancouver is having a [illegible]phlet printed descriptive of their country. [illegible]dition of 3000 is to be printed. The What[illegible] board of trade are working on a similar [illegible]phlet.

[illegible]e Jonas, who was charged by a Chinaman [illegible] having sold the latter a watch that had [illegible] stolen, was yesterday released from cus[illegible] the evidence being deemed insufficient [illegible]st him.

[illegible]e funeral of Gideon A. Schofield, father of [illegible]ge A. Schofield, who was killed by a loco[illegible]e on Wednesday, will take place from the [illegible]ence of J. W. Ball, Sixth street, between [illegible]d C at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

[illegible] mentioning yesterday in these columns [illegible] report of the person appointed to inves[illegible] the accounts of the chief of police had not [illegible] presented to the council it was written [illegible]ounts of the ex-chief of police." Chief [illegible]sh's accounts have not been questioned.

[illegible]e regular vernal exodus from Chinatown [illegible]ommenced. Yesterday 150 men with their [illegible]age, cooking utensils, etc., were shipped [illegible]akima City to work on the extension of the [illegible]ern to Ellensburg. Several other gangs of [illegible]s are under orders and will be started [illegible]

[illegible]r a few days past the Astorian has been [illegible]ed on heavy book paper, owing to a delayed [illegible]ment of their usual stock, and yesterday's [illegible] comes to hand with this comment: "If this [illegible] isn't thick enough we'll get some that is [illegible]er. The best is none too good for our sub[illegible]bers."

[illegible]rs. D. E. Barrett, a poor woman who earns [illegible]own living, came to the city yesterday, [illegible] with tears streaming down her face, told of [illegible]g her purse containing $15, which she had [illegible] to pay her month's rent. Unfortunately [illegible]was a case where the police could do noth[illegible]and the recovery of the money depends on [illegible]onesty of the finder.

[illegible]me idea can be formed of the rigorous [illegible]er in eastern Oregon when it is known that [illegible]e west side of the Deschutes river dozens [illegible]er were found lying dead along the trails. [illegible]men who hunted stock on snow-shoes [illegible]ht and marked the ears of many large mule [illegible] and when one was found that was fit for [illegible] the hunter had only to walk up to it and [illegible]s throat.

BRIEF MENTION

The ship J. B. Brown goes down the river to-day.

Miss Winston as Marasquin in "Girofle-Girofla" to-morrow night.

Barney Fagan of Oregon City has been adjudged insane and sent to the asylum.

An entertainment is to be given by the boys' branch of the Y. M. C. A. this evening.

Eugene Oliver, under arrest for larceny, was discharged in the police court yesterday.

The British bark Cumbrian was chartered yesterday and was towed into Greenwich dock from the stream.

Commencing next Sunday, the collection from street letter-boxes for the Atlantic express will be made at 11 A. M., instead of 10.30.

D. C. Southworth commenced suit in the state circuit court yesterday against N. Thomas et al, to recover $1000 due on a promissory note.

Bootblacks, hot chestnuts and fresh roasted peanuts are among the late Astoria attractions. Hand-organs are yet to come, says the Astorian.

The editor of the Colfax Gazette has bought the telegraph line between Colfax and Almota. Is it that he is preparing to become a soulless monopoly?

Mr. A. H. Mackay, formerly freight agent of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific at London, Ontario, has been appointed to a similar position here, and began duties yesterday.

The bondsmen of Willey, cashier of the bankrupt Tacoma bank, have delivered him up to the authorities, but it is the general opinion that he cannot be found guilty upon a criminal charge.

The steamer Gold Dust, which has been in the hands of the U. S. marshal for a long time, was yesterday ordered to be sold on stipulation. The vessel was libeled some months ago by several parties.

The board of trade of Vancouver is having a pamphlet printed descriptive of their country. An edition of 3000 is to be printed. The Whatcom board of trade are working on a similar pamphlet.

Joe Jones, who was charged by a Chinaman with having sold the latter a watch that had been stolen, was yesterday released from custody, the evidence being deemed insufficient against him.

The funeral of Gideon A. Schofield, father of George A. Schofield, who was killed by a locomotive on Wednesday, will take place from the residence of J W Ball, Sixth street, between B and C, at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

In mentioning yesterday in these columns that the report of the person appointed to investigate the accounts of the chief of police had not been presented to the council it was written "accounts of the ex-chief of police." Chief Parrish's accounts have not been questioned.

The regular vernal exodus from Chinatown has commenced. Yesterday 150 men with their baggage, cooking utensils, etc., were shipped to Yakima City to work on the extension of the Northern to Ellensburg. Several other gangs of coolies are under orders and will be started soon.

For a few days past the Astorian has been printed on heavy book paper, owing to a delayed shipment of their usual stock, and yesterday's issue comes to hand with this comment "If this paper isn't thick enough we'll get some that is thicker. The best is none too good for our subscribers."

Mrs. D. E. Barrett, a poor woman who earns her own living, came to the city jail yesterday, and with tears streaming down her face, told of losing her purse containing $10, which she had saved to pay her month's rent. Unfortunately it was a case where the police could do nothing, and the recovery of the money depends on the honesty of the finder.

Some idea can be formed of the rigorous winter in eastern Oregon when it is known that on the west side of the Deschutes river dozens of deer were found lying dead along the trails. The men who hunted stock on snow-shoes found and marked the ears of many large mule deer, and when one was found that was fit for food the hunter had only to walk up to it and cut its throat.

IMPORTANT.

Now is the time to invest in furniture, carpets, wall paper, rugs, etc., as the well-known firm of G. LOCAL AND GENERAL.

LOST PART OF HIS TICKET.—Some time since one Isaac Nelson purchased a ticket at Walla Walla good for a ride from that place over the O. R. & N. Co.'s road to Portland. Mr Nelson boarded the train and proceeded on his journey till he had reached the flourishing city of Pendleton. For some reason he dismounted there and proceeded to take in the town. In doing this he took in a large quantity of the putrid brand of whisky kept by the Pendletonian dealers in strong waters for the refreshment of strangers within their gates. It is not worth while to follow Mr Nelson through all the details of his jollification. Suffice to say that at the end of it he took the train again for Portland, and when called upon for his ticket behold only a part of the expensive pasteboard to show. Just what had become of the missing portion is not known, but probably like the fellow's missing leg, it had been bitten off. The conductor viewed the ancient and fragmentary ticket with aversion, thinking that the missing part might have been punched with care. By the payment of a small sum Nelson succeeded in getting to The Dalles, but the conductor positively refused to allow him to ride any further. He commenced suit against the railroad company to recover $1000 damages and costs and the case was on trial in the state circuit court yesterday. The testimony had not been concluded when the court adjourned.

A STURGEON'S REMARKABLE SAVEY.—Many remarkable stories have been told concerning the sagacity of the sturgeon, some of which have been hard to believe. That these fish are endowed with a heap of savey is shown by the following. Yesterday afternoon a number of representatives from the fish markets of this city embarked on board the steamer Calliope to see the launch of the Multnomah. They were standing in a row along the rail when a philosophical looking old sturgeon leaped out of the river on the guard of the boat, as if to get a better view of the launch. Happening to look up, he saw a row of fish-dealers with their eyes fixed upon him, evidently calculating how much he would weigh when made into sea bass. With a frightened snort the astute fish leaped back into his native element, went down and a minute later came to the surface half a mile off looking back to see if he was pursued. Seeing the fish men still standing in a row and looking disconsolate, he put his tail to the end of his nose and gently waved it, like a long bony hand, at them and then went below to resume his regular business of catching suckers.

DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO WITH THEM.—Charley Johnson and Willie Davey, the two boys now in the city jail who were found in their "Robbers' Roost" under a barn, were arraigned in the police court yesterday upon a charge of larceny from the store of M. Mesch, corner of First and Hall streets. The complaining witness told of having lost two boxes of Vanity Fair cigarettes through the depredations of some sneak thief and it was proven that a quantity of the same kind was found in the boys' possession. Young Davy then told with a faltering voice how a boy named Hoyt had stolen the cigarettes and given some to him. Judge Moreland remarked that he did not know what to do with these boys who were so young as not to realize the sure end of the life they are leading. He was not able to decide in the matter at once, and reserved his decision for another day.

EVERYTHING BLOWED ENDWAYS.—An insurance agent who has an office on Stark street, between Front and First, discovered that his chimney would not draw, and called the attention of his janitor to the fact. "That's all right," said the knight of the broom and dustpan, "I'll fix it." Yesterday morning when the agent came down to his office he saw that the cornices of the building were covered with soot, and the street for a block away looked as if there had been a squall of black snow. It appears that the janitor had loaded the office stove with powder, and after weighting down the cover and bracing the door, had touched her off. The following note found on the counter gives all the particulars necessary in a concise form "Captin Reed Esq let me tell you that the sutt from the stove is gon the fact of the matter is every thing was blowed to hell—the stove will draw like a Plaster HARRIS."

LIBRARY HOUSE-CLEANING OVER.—The Portland library rooms were thrown open yesterday, the work of renovation being finished. The rooms now present a clean, bright and cheerful appearance. The new matting in the halls and rubber on the stairs are very decided improvements. The old carpet has been removed from the library room and the floor painted. New book-shelves have been placed up all around the room extending as high as the ceiling, which increases the capacity of the library several thousand volumes. In addition, the walls and ceilings have been treated to a new coat of kalsomine and the wood work painted and varnished. Patrons and visitors whose eyes have so long been accustomed to rest on the faded appearance of the carpets, walls and furniture of these rooms will be pleased to note the changes which have been wrought within the past few weeks.

WANTS PAY FOR CLEAR TITLE.—J. E. Lombard et al. commenced suit in the state circuit court yesterday against Joseph Buchtel et al to recover $278 50. The complaint alleges that in November, 1883, defendants sold plaintiff five acres of land in Pierce county, W. T., for $1500 and gave a deed thereto covenanting that the premises were free from all incumbrances and warranting and defending it against the lawful claims of all persons whatever. It is further alleged that the premises were not free from incumbrances, but that one-half of the land had never been vested in defendant, who had only a legal right to have said interest conveyed to him, and this conveyance could not be procured except through legal proceedings. In securing this conveyance plaintiff was at an expense of $278 50, for which he asks judgment.

GONE TO WHATCOM.—I. S. Kalloch, ex-mayor of San Francisco, accompanied by his family, went up to Seattle on the last trip of the steamship Mexico on his way to Whatcom, W. T., where he will make his future home. Besides household effects Mr. Kalloch had unloaded from the steamer upon the dock a coop of full blooded chickens, five blooded dogs and a handsome little Jersey cow. As Mr. Kalloch could not very well go any further west, he did the next best thing and came north, and is evidently fully bent on growing up with the country. It is said he is connected with several others in the railroad projected to a point of connection with the Canadian Pacific, and which they declare will be built, its completion to be about the time of that of the Canadian road. Later on it is the avowed intention of the syndicate to build a road to Seattle.

FINE LOT OF CATTLE.—There was received here yesterday from Union county sixty head of cattle the finest lot seen on this market for a long time. They were three and four year-olds, and averaged 1584 pounds after they had been off of grain and water for twelve hours. They were raised by R. J. Rogers, ex-sheriff of Union county, and sold to S. Coulter of this city, and will be shipped to Seattle Saturday. A number of butchers will visit A. H. Johnson's corral this afternoon to see the cattle re-weighed. The stock was grain fed and kept under shelter during the December and January storms. Mr. Rogers has about 800 head more of the same sort, which will probably find their way to the tables of Portlanders.

SHIP ASTORIA ALL RIGHT.—The ship Astoria, which was reported ashore near Bonilla Point, at the entrance to the strait of Juan de Fuca, was towed to Port Angeles by the tug Holyoke. Contrary to rumors, she did not go ashore, although she dragged very close in before the anchor held. No damage was done to the vessel, and the only loss reported is that of an anchor and chain, which tripped on a rock and held so firmly that it was necessary to slip the cable and leave the anchor in several fathoms of water. When in distress the captain sent a boat and crew to Pysht to telegraph for a tug, which was done, and in response the Holyoke went to the rescue of the ship.

MAKING ROOM FOR THE NEW COURT.—The county court and commissioners were inspecting the county court house yesterday for the purpose of ascertaining the manner of best supplying the necessary accommodation for the new circuit court. It is about settled that the north wing of the court house will be extended far enough to give sufficient space for a court room in the upper story. There will be an entrance to the lower story from Salmon street. The entrance to the new court room will probably be by the present stairway and a passage through the present grand jury room.

DEATH OF A YAMHILL COUNTY PIONEER.—Levi Block, who died at McMinnville March 1, aged 68, of dropsy, was born in Belmont county, Ohio. At the age of 22 he moved to Missouri, where in 1848 he married Mary Dowding daughter of Eustus Dowding, now a citizen of Yamhill county. In 1852 he crossed the plains to Oregon and the following year settled in Yamhill county, a few miles southwest of McMinnville, where he resided until seven years ago, when he retired from farming and moved to that town. He was well known and esteemed throughout that section.

RELIGIOUS MEETING.—There will be a service of social worship and sermon this evening (Friday) at the chapel of the Unitarian church. Singing from the new hymnal, called "Good Will Songs."

GOING AFTER THE CHINESE.—The Tacoma commission on the Chinese problem have appointed committees to collect statistics on the subject, to investigate the sanitary condition of the Chinese houses, and to circulate papers for signatures pledging property owners not to sell or lease to Chinese, and pledging citizens not to [illegible] in any capacity. They will also [illegible] to pass stringent ordinances to rid the city of the nuisance. The commission are strongly opposed to the colonization of the Chinese [illegible] adjacent to the city limits, or at any other place in North America.

VALUABLE VASE.—Captain Farnham, of Seattle, owns a vase which he says was presented to [illegible] Chinese Gordon in July 1864 at Shanghai. It is made of copper, stands about eight inches high and is in the shape and design of a [illegible] standing on four feet and entwined by a vine, with butterflies for additional ornamentation. Captain Farnham declares that it is of Chinese manufacture and that he was assured its age was not less than 250 years. This article derives value from several causes its age, its source of manufacture, and its material, but chiefly from the fact that it was given to Gordon.

DIVORCE SUIT.—Ella M. Dawson commenced suit in the state circuit court yesterday to obtain a divorce from her husband, Pierce H. Dawson. She alleges that she was married to Dawson, who was a drummer for Murphy, Grant & Co., at Vancouver, on the 28th of last September, and that eight days after he left her without any means of support. Dawson must be a regular love and ride away sort of a fellow, but it is difficult to understand how in eight days he destroyed the means of support Ella had before she married him and left her without any.

SUBSTANTIAL ENDORSEMENTS.—One of the late compliments paid to the Harden Star Hand Grenade fire extinguisher is their adoption by Wells, Fargo & Co for use in their principal offices and warehouses all over the coast. According to the Oakland (Cal.) Times the Alameda county grand jury at its last session strongly urged the placing of grenades in every school building in the county, as they found them to be very effective and so simple to use that even school children could use them.

ARRESTED FOR LARCENY.—Harry Koester, who is wanted in Astoria for grand larceny, was arrested by Chief of Police Parrish in this city and sent down the river to the Astoria authorities yesterday. Koester was employed at the Germania hotel in Astoria about six weeks ago, when he suddenly left with $140 that had been entrusted to his keeping by two sailors from the British bark Embleton. The police have been on his track ever since, but only this week did they succeed in getting any trace of him.

TOOK UP A COLLECTION.—Ben Holladay has gone to Victoria, passing through Tacoma on the way. When on the steamer North Pacific, going down the Sound, says the Tacoma Ledger, Mr Holladay's sympathies were aroused in behalf of a poor woman who was destitute of every comfort in life, save that found in the possession of nine children. He performed the religious act of "taking up a collection" for her benefit, the result being about $20.

FORMER PORTLANDER IN TROUBLE.—The Ellensburg Localizer has the following: "A quarrel between Walter Keyes and old man Hegel, on last Friday night, about the pay for some wood furnished by Hegel, resulted in a cutting scrape in which Hegel received a bad wound in the cheek with a dirk-knife. Keyes was arrested and put under bonds in the sum of $1000 for his appearance before the grand jury." It does seem that our old friend Walter can never keep out of trouble.

STRUCK BY A TUB.—Wm Black a longshoreman working for Dick Lemon aboard the British bark Banca lying at the coal bunkers below steamship dock, was struck on the head by a falling tub yesterday afternoon and knocked senseless. He received a very severe scalp wound, but the skull was probably not fractured. He was taken to St. Vincent's hospital, where he was resting easy last night.

READY FOR SPRING TRADE

Mr Charles F. Crowell, of the firm of Hegele, Crowell & Co., wholesale crockery dealers, has been among the eastern manufacturers for the past six weeks taking advantage, with cash, of the present business depression to secure goods at prices lower than have been known since the war. His first purchases were received about a week since, and the remainder are arriving daily. The firm have just placed in their warehouse 150 crates of Edward Clarke's celebrated crockery, direct importations ex Jannet McNeil and Josefa. A specialty which Hegele, Crowell & Co handle in large quantities is the Peoria stoneware, undoubtedly the best ever made, and impervious to acid. Though the house may be classed as one of the young firms of Portland, it has taken rank for reliability, strict integrity and push with the oldest and best.

THE STAGE

THE CASINO.—The attendance at this popular resort is increasing, to witness Girofle-Girofla, with Jeannie Winston in the title role and Miss King as Marasquin. This evening Miss Winston will essay the role of Girofle-Girofla for the last time, and to-morrow and Sunday evenings will assume the part of Marasquin to Miss King's Girofle-Girofla, a change which the entire clientele of the Casino will, we are sure, like to see.

A Pitiable Mistake

Salt Lake Tribune

The republicans in the Oregon legislature made sorry fools of themselves in holding a deadlock until final adjournment, refusing to elect a United States senator. Had they stopped quarreling and all voted for some man like Judge Deady, they would have conferred a great honor on their state and rendered a great service to their country. And, could the judge have been elected, he would, on reaching Washington have impressed the men there as one worthy to hail from a state where "Mount Hood towers above and the Columbia lies at its base." Oregon republican legislators have made a pitiable mistake.

"THE MULTNOMAH."

Launch of Pope & Winch's New Steamboat Yesterday. She Takes her First Plunge without Accident

Yesterday afternoon at 3:45 the new steamer in course of construction for Pope & Winch by Smith & Pacquet was launched without a hitch from the ways at the foot of M street, East Portland. The day was fine and the first performance of the boat was witnessed by a large audience and [illegible] of the river. It was a plain, simple, every day launch. The contractors and builders had everything in complete readiness and when the ropes were cut, the boat could not do anything else but glide into the water. At any rate she did not do anything else. She did not careen at all, nor disturb in the least a single piece of loose lumber in the cabin. Just before the launch she was christened "The Multnomah"—and it is a very pretty name—and it floated in red letters on a white ground from the flagstaff. As she touched the water she was greeted with a chorus of whistles from the Calliope and a number of other boats moored at this side. She was immediately taken by the Calliope and towed down to the Willamette iron works, where she will commence receiving boiler and machinery.

The dimensions of the Multnomah are as follows length over all, 113 feet, beam, 25 feet, hold, 5 feet and 3 inches. One peculiarity in the hull of this boat is the two fore and aft bulkheads running the entire length of the steamer parallel to each other, and extending from the bottom up close under the deck beams, made of two inch fir planks standing edgewise and securely fastened together. This answers the double purpose of a bulkhead and a deck stringer. There also five athwart ship bulkheads made in the same manner, thus making fifteen water tight compartments and rendering it almost impossible for the boat to sink in case of accident, running on a rock, snag, or in the event of a collision. The freight house is 116 feet long and 31 feet wide amidships with galley, water-closet and deck-hands' rooms. Two stairways lead from the main to the passenger deck. The cabin is nearly the full length of the freight house and has a comfortable promenade all around the outside. The cabin is divided in three saloons—smoking, dining and ladies'. The smoking saloon has three rooms—office, wash-room and one state room. The dining saloon extends the full width of the cabin and makes a room 27x35 feet. The ladies' cabin has four rooms—two state rooms, a pantry and ladies' toilet. Both smoking and ladies' cabins have round ends, with long windows put in as close as possible. Above is a skylight running the full length of the cabin, for light and ventilation. Above this is another small, cosy cabin 50 feet long and the full width of the skylight. This cabin is divided as follows: Captain's room, 11x10 feet, with a round end full of windows and four rooms for officers. The after end is the same as the captain's room. On top of that is the pilot-house, 8x9 feet and 8 feet high.

The engines were built at the Willamette iron works, under the supervision of Mr John Muir, and are 16 inches bore and 6-foot stroke. The boiler was built at the same works. The shell of the boiler is of steel and ⅜ of an inch thick, drilled longitudinally with seams. It has 150 2¼-inch tubes and is allowed 150 pounds of steam to the square inch, government test. The shell of the boiler is 60 inches in diameter and 16 feet long. The wheel is 14 feet wide by 17 feet diameter.

The hull was built under the direct supervision of Mr L. Pacquet, one of the best boat builders on this part of the coast. The cabins are being constructed by the veteran cabin builder, Ben Long, assisted by N. Killen, A. McDonald, Joseph Newell and Sam Kindred. If model and power have anything to do with speed, it can be predicted with safety that the Multnomah will prove a very lively boat.

The Multnomah will be ready for service about the 1st of May. She will probably be placed on the route between Portland and Washougal, though her owners have not yet definitely settled just where the boat is to run. The total cost of the Multnomah, including the furnishing of the cabins, etc., will reach about $24,000.

All the community invited to attend. Exercises will begin promptly at half past 1 o'clock.

ATTACKED WITH HEMORRHAGE

Early last evening a party of young men passing up I street noticed a man walking in a feeble manner and bleeding from the nose. After [illegible] him for a short distance they concluded to turn back and somewhat aided him, but before they could reach him he fell to the sidewalk on the corner of Eighth street, weak and unconscious, the flow of blood continuing quite profusely. Dr Rafferty was hastily summoned, and by the time he arrived the man was in convulsions and apparently dying. He proved to be Mr John Henzell, residing on the corner of Ninth and J streets, and the doctor with others assisted him to his residence. Remedies were applied, he shortly rallied and the doctor left him in a fair way of recovery.

NOTES

Miss Carrie Packard is making little progress toward recovery.

F G Garrison left yesterday morning for a business trip up the valley.

Professor Bullock went to La Camas on business yesterday and will return to-day.

That portion of the elevated sidewalk to be built on the south side of I street, between Fifth and Sixth, has at last been commenced.

J C Edwards has resigned his position as constable of East Portland precinct, intending shortly to visit his home in Springfield, Ill.

A juvenile torchlight procession headed by a snare drum, was the only local demonstration yesterday to celebrate the inauguration of the new order of things national.

The planking of Sixteenth street between J and the base line road, and also the base line road from Sixteenth street to the cemetery is expected to commence within a few days.

W Braun leaves this morning for a few days recreation in the region of the Sandy, the condition of his health demanding. He will stop with friends about two miles beyond the Sandy postoffice.

Property-owners on L street, between Ninth and Twelfth, will be required to improve that portion of the street forthwith, the time extended for the completion thereof having long expired.

At the annual school meeting of district No. 2, south of Division street, East Portland, Monday evening, Wash Allen was elected to succeed J W Kern as director, and Penumbra Kelly was elected to succeed John Shaver as clerk.

Elder C I Boyd, pastor of the Seventh-Day Adventist church, leaves to-day to conduct a series of meetings at Corvallis, which commence on the 7th. During his absence Elder William Potter will conduct services in East Portland.

J. C Bolander leaves on the noon train to-day for the Coeur d'Alene mining region. His destination is Murray, Shoshone county, Idaho, where he intends to permanently locate and engage in business with a friend now located there.

The teachers and pupils of the J street school were surprised yesterday by a lamb bounding into the schoolhouse, the door of which was open. It was probably looking for Mary but was not given an opportunity to investigate, being summarily driven out and into the sand from which it had broken away.

A rope with a man at one end and a cow at the other created considerable excitement and amusement on the streets yesterday. The bovine dragged the man down Fourth street and up I to Fifth, where the latter brought the animal to a sudden halt by running ahead and dexterously getting a hitch to a shade tree on the corner.

Messrs S. W. Keenan, H. H. Kiessling and Peter Engelding, who represent a mining company of this city, and also Mr George Rose, who represents another party of mining speculators, have returned from Tillamook, where the claims are located, and report prospects as exceedingly favorable, bringing specimens to corroborate their statements. The ledges are all of silver.

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH [illegible]

COMMERCIAL.

THURSDAY, March [illegible]

We [illegible] for the week with [illegible] the eastern section [illegible] is sable weather. This sort of weather has been of great benefit as it has held [illegible] however a disposition to [illegible] The probabilities of damage by spring frosts or undue warmth and later cold are daily becoming more remote. All produce lines have enjoyed a fair business, and now that bottom prices have evidently been reached there is more confidence expressed. The absence of any speculative call of course causes trading to be light, and as a rule only for consumptive and the usual shipping purposes. Prices are quite low enough, and only influences now entirely hidden could still more unfavorably affect them. Sellers do not hold extreme views and are steadily placing their holdings. Buyers look for no particular price changes and see no promising opportunity for speculation. They must be content with the small profits afforded by regular sales. The grain and freight markets have ruled exceedingly dull, freight rates backing down somewhat to the benefit of wheat. The selling markets have witnessed no price changes in the week but [illegible] a dullness which is [illegible]. At the close an improved tone is manifest without [illegible] promises of improvement. The tenacity of wheat-holders on the coast [illegible] the export movement and consequently weakens the position of ships, although the latter would seem to have a statistical advantage, especially out of California. Something must give way locally or foreign markets must improve before the export movement can be enlarged. In the latter event ships are in a position to demand the larger share of the [illegible] Oregon and Washington can yet supply to shippers is answered by [illegible] alike. As a rule shippers [illegible] quantity [illegible] in sight. Millers say the [illegible] claims are too high. There yet remains practically one half of the cereal year. For the seven months passed flour receipts at this point have been [illegible] ctls or [illegible] tons of wheat to manufacture. This [illegible] last year [illegible] equal to [illegible] tons [illegible] and for the first five months of the cereal year [illegible] For last season [illegible] from the first seven months [illegible] tons [illegible] and for the last five months 4,11[illegible] tons. For the current year in the seven months passed the average has been equal to only 14[illegible] tons wheat monthly. For the balance of the season the average will not be much less, as the foreign export of flour this season has been light and the proportions [illegible] will hardly be attacked. Assuming this will be no change, the millers will yet grind 20,000 tons wheat. Whatever may be the quantity of wheat yet remaining in sellers' hands this 20,000 tons must be deducted as for flour needs. The balance is available for shipment. In seven months now passed the average monthly domestic shipments have been 190 tons wheat as wheat. The remaining five months if the proportion is continued and it probably will be, will see 10,000 tons wheat sent domestic. Add this to the probable amount required for flour, and there is 30,000 tons to be taken from present stocks. Evidently the most sanguine estimates would have to be met in order to fill tonnage in sight. Millers now hold or virtually control fully half the wheat they will probably need. Flour does not promise any fluctuation. The export trade remains slow. Were direct shipment to China possible a large quantity would be sent that way, but we have no direct lines of transportation and freight is do not sees the voyage. That sent out last fall by wooden ship netted the satisfactory returns and doubtless more will be sent this year. Hops have ruled dull in the absence of any demand. Growers have sent in several lots for shipment and have evinced a desire to close out. The approach of the wool season is apparent by the receipt of wool bags and by the visits of growers to this city. The smaller produce lines call for no special mention.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours: 3700 ctls wheat, 2900 bbls flour, 9[illegible]2 ctls oats, 50 ctls bran, 803 ctls millstuff, 968 sks potatoes, 8280 lbs wool, 30 lbs hides, 98 cs eggs, 110 lbs hops, 219 bxs fruit, 16 pkgs butter. Also 3485 ctls wheat, 965 bbls flour, [illegible]735 lbs hides from the eastern section.

FREIGHTS—Last one arrival in the week, that of the M & F Cox wood seeking. Sailings were the Sovereign, Cheesbrough and Kinkardineshire with wheat, and Montgomery Castle with flour. The John Nicholson wheat, is now the only vessel ready for sea. Of the loading fleet the Staghound, Brown, Fenton and Monmouthshire are in various stages of loading. Work is slow because of light wheat deliveries. The market has developed steady weakness yet is relatively in better form than San Francisco. On Saturday the Bancal Iron was closed at 45 shillings for orders, and this figure is the market extreme. Since that day more weakness is manifested at San Francisco and shippers here talk lower. There is little doing because the scope for operations is limited. Cargoes are slow sale and local wheat values will not give way. The list en route shows no important change, yet is increased by about 3000 tons over last week. The additions are small vessels from the west coast. Tonnage now in sight has a capacity of about 40,000 tons, which would seemingly be ample for all needs.

WHEAT—Receipts have been somewhat spasmodic, particularly from the eastern section, Snake river sending the bulk of this. Altogether they slightly exceed expectations as they were expected to be steady in value. The interior supply is slowly being reduced and large receipts now only mean a hastening of the end. Purchases must have been fair but they were mostly in the interior as spot buying has continued of insignificant proportions. Quotations are difficult to give with accuracy as there is a wide difference in views. Reports agree that no material quantity of valley can be had at less than $1 20, while bids and limits out do not exceed $1 17½. The fact that $1 20 was paid shows the strength of holders and to buy at all rapidly this must be paid. Millers are doing less, having stocks they yet take up occasional lots at about $1 20. Walla Walla grades are in no spot business, transactions being made at home. The nominal quotation is $1 12½@1 13. Advices were without interest until the past two or three days when a hardening tendency abroad became manifest. This tone was no doubt due to large sales for French account which took about all off coast cargoes offering. To-day's advices quote a slight advance with better demand. On this coast ships are in a position to absorb nearly if not quite all, of early advances and the local market must be slow to respond.

FLOUR—Millers have found only the local trade to supply and business has been quiet. Recent shipments of valley to San Francisco sold at unsatisfactory prices. We quote standards steady at $4 [illegible] others at $[illegible]

MILLSTUFF—Mark is extremely quiet as far as anything of new interest is concerned. Trade is wholly of a local character and dealers cash obtain stocks sometimes at reduced values. We quote local jobbing values irregular at: bran $1[illegible], shorts $15@17, chop $16@20, middlings $20@25.

BARLEY—Small trade this week. Quote $1[illegible] 50@18 per ton for whole.

OATS—The demand has failed to take up all offering and shipments are still made through the San Francisco market is weaker. The great bulk of local offerings are not up to the standard of choice. Sales have been made within the range of our quotations which represent present market rates. A good milling lot would do better. We quote good to choice feed [illegible] poor to good stained 30@3[illegible].

POTATOES—The last steamer carried about the usual quantity but the next will [illegible] Appearances are not deceitful [illegible] for present [illegible] so small that buyers must [illegible] ... [illegible] San Francisco [illegible] receipts will show [illegible] We quote [illegible] Early Rose [illegible] Burbanks [illegible]

ONIONS—For shipment [illegible] and [illegible] dull, because [illegible] jobbing at [illegible]

APPLES—In free supply [illegible] with very prompt [illegible] shipping [illegible] slow, only the very best being wanted for this purpose. Quote [illegible] to good [illegible] for choice.

TROPICAL FRUITS—Oranges in free receipt and rather weak at $3 50@[illegible] [illegible] Other sorts in fair [illegible] only. Quote lemons $[illegible] limes $1 [illegible] bananas [illegible] cocoanuts, $[illegible] sugar cane sells [illegible]

VEGETABLES—California in large receipt and Oregon moves [illegible] Rhubarb will be next at hand. Quote jobbing rates: Cabbage 1[illegible]c, celery 90c, cauliflower $1 10, carrots 40@50c.

BUTTER—California roll lower, choice selling at 25c, and there is more doing. Eastern tub weaker but held up to 25c in a jobbing way. Local shows no particular change, good to choice, 22½@25c, common 15@20c. Supplies of local are still large.

POULTRY—Chickens ruled steady all week at $5@6, the outside figure had for best coops. Turkeys [illegible]

ket [illegible] demand, but some sold at [illegible]. [illegible] low in the absence of any [illegible]. Cheese slow at $17@[illegible]

EGGS—The market gathered strength under [illegible] and recovered to [illegible] which figure [illegible] quoted. There [illegible] demand [illegible] Receipts past two days show a few [illegible] would be exceptional [illegible]

HAY—[illegible] market is without special interest [illegible] trading with a fair request at $10@[illegible] [illegible] moves slowly at $8@9.

HIDES, SKINS, ETC.—Quote wet salted [illegible] with [illegible] advance [illegible] choice. Tallow dull at [illegible] Quote furs and skins: Dark beaver $[illegible] valley summer deerskins 20@25c, do winter 17@20c, eastern Oregon summer deerskins 15@20c, do winter 12½@15c, elkskins 8c per lb. The following sell by the skin: Black bear $1@6, brown do, 50c@$[illegible], dark fisher $2 50@[illegible], pale do 50c@$1, silver fox $3@[illegible], cross do $2@5, red do 75c@$1 50, lynx 37½@50c, prime dark marten 25@75c, dark mink 10@40c, land otter $1 50@5 50, wolf 37½@60c, wolverine 50c@1 50.

HOPS—It is difficult to see anything at all cheering in reports from New York or London. [illegible] freight letter reports from London where American [illegible] were scarce, reporting a firmer tone to the market and saying dealers were afraid to buy, fearing [illegible] operations would enhance the demand of holders. This news was soon contradicted by later report bearing more semblance of truth. Mail dates from New York say the demand has shown no material improvement, the business has been restricted to current requirements of brewers, with an occasional small parcel taken for export. Quotations are rather nominal as buyers' views are about 1@2c lower than asking prices. We quote prime state 1884 crop 16@18c, do low to fair 12@14; California 1884 crop fair to prime, 12@16c. There is no grain of comfort in any report received here, and local holders are more inclined to sell. However they are met by buyers, and the local market is probably weaker than at any time this season. A nominal quotation is [illegible] but it is [illegible] the inside figure. [illegible] shipments for February were 34,404 pounds.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Governments weak, 4½ per cents ⅛ lower, others unchanged. Railroads bonds were fairly active, and prices generally firm. Stocks were feverish and irregular this morning. Prices were generally ⅛ to ¼ lower than last evening. Most of the business of the forenoon was confined to dealings in Lackawanna, Northwestern, New York Central, St Paul, Lake Shore and Pacific Mail, all of which were active, total sales for the forenoon being nearly as large as for the whole of yesterday. Although the excitement in stocks mentioned subsided somewhat after midday and prices yielded, there was a renewal of activity later in the day, accompanied by increased strength in most stocks, which continued to the close. Some of the leading bear operators for the last ten days were again actively working on the bull side of the market and now talk about higher prices for almost everything on the list, but especially for the lowest-priced and heretofore inactive stocks. Special features of the day were strength in Lackawanna and Pacific Mail and weakness in New York Central and Northwestern.

STATE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE

The following bill (H B No 95) to create a state board of agriculture, to promote the agricultural and other interests of the state, to encourage immigration, and to make appropriations therefor, passed both houses, has been approved by the governor, and is now a law:

Section 1. Within thirty days after the passage of this act the governor shall appoint eight resident citizens of this state, who together with four citizens elected by the State Agricultural Society, when organized, shall constitute a state board of agriculture, who shall hold office for the term of four years and until their successors are appointed and qualified. Vacancies occurring from any cause in the board shall be filled by appointment of the governor for the unexpired term of the office vacated.

Sec. 2. Within twenty days after their appointment the persons so appointed [illegible] the constitution of the [illegible] shall meet in the capitol building and organize by the election of one of their number as president of the board, who shall hold the office of president for the term of one year or until his successor is elected and qualified. The board shall also elect a secretary and treasurer not of their number, who shall each hold office for one year. The time for the annual meeting of the board shall be fixed by said board.

Sec. 3. At the first meeting the members of the board shall by lot or otherwise classify themselves into four classes of three members each. Each class shall be composed of two members appointed by the governor and one member elected by the State Agricultural Society. The terms of office of the first class shall expire at the end of the first fiscal year, of the second class of the second year, of the third class of the third year, of the fourth class at the end of the full term of four years. The fiscal year shall be from the 1st of December to the 1st of December.

The president of each county or district agricultural, horticultural or mechanical society or association, or delegate therefrom duly authorized, shall be ex officio members of the board for the purpose of consulting as to the wants, prospects and condition of the agricultural and other kindred interests of the state.

Sec. 4. The state board of agriculture shall be charged with the exclusive management and control of the State Agricultural Society, shall have possession and care of its property, and be intrusted with the direction of its entire business and financial affairs. They shall do all the duties of the secretary and treasurer, fix their bonds and compensation, and shall have power to make all necessary changes in the constitution and rules of the society to adapt the same to the provisions of this act and to the management of the society, its meetings and exhibitions. They shall also provide for an annual fair or exhibition by the society of all the industries and industrial products of the state at such place as they may designate, and determine the amount of premiums provided that in no event shall the state be liable for any premium awarded or debt created by said board of agriculture or any society under its control beyond the amount annually appropriated therefor.

Sec. 5. The board shall have power to appoint all necessary marshals and police to keep order and preserve peace at the annual fairs of said State Agricultural Society, and the officers so appointed shall be vested with the same authority for the preservation of order and peace on the grounds and in the buildings of the society that executive peace officers are vested with by law.

Sec. 6. Said board shall use all suitable means to collect and disseminate all kinds of information calculated to educate and benefit the industrial classes, develop the resources and advance the material interests of the state, collect and distribute reliable information to encourage emigration, and shall on or about the first day of December of each year report to the governor a full and detailed account of their transactions, statistics and information gained, and also a full financial statement of all funds received and disbursed. They shall also make such suggestion and recommendations as experience and good policy may dictate for the improvement and advancement of the agricultural and kindred industries of the state. The rooms of the board shall be in the capitol building.

Sec. 7. The state printer shall perform such printing as may be ordered by said board from time to time to carry out the provisions of this act, and bills for said printing shall be audited and paid in the same manner as other printing for the state.

Sec. 8. When said state board of agriculture shall have been organized and classified as herein provided the secretary of the board shall report the organization and classification to the governor. He shall also report any vacancy that may occur in said board at any time.

Sec. 9. The directors or board of managers of each county and district agricultural society or association organized and acting under the laws of this state shall report annually on or before the 20th day of November to the state board of agriculture the name and postoffice address of each officer and member of such society or association, the amount of premiums offered for the year, the list of stock and articles exhibited and the premiums paid, the amount of receipts and expenditures for the year, the new industries inaugurated and any and all facts and statistics showing the development and extent of the industries, products and resources of the county or district embraced within the management of such society or organization. Any society failing or neglecting to report to the state board of agriculture as above specified shall be barred from receiving the appropriation specified in section 11 for that year.

Sec. 10. To facilitate such reports, the state board of agriculture shall have prepared, and shall furnish such societies with necessary schedules and blanks for such reports, and such state board shall include such reports from societies and associations, or so much thereof as they may deem advisable, in their report to the governor.

Sec. 11. Any county agricultural society or association in any county in this state holding a fair or exhibition after the passage of this act and reporting to the state board of agriculture as required in section 9 of the act, shall receive from the secretary of said board, countersigned by its president, an order on the county commissioners of the county in which said fair was held, for a sum equal to five cents on each inhabitant of said county, upon a basis of the last and highest vote for member of congress, allowing five inhabitants for each vote cast, and said commissioners shall order payment of the same by warrant on the treasurer of said county. District societies composed of one or more counties shall be allowed in like manner from the counties embraced in the organization on the same terms and conditions as county societies. But money obtained in the manner above provided shall be used for the payment of premiums and for no other purpose. Provided that no county shall be in any manner responsible for premiums or any debts of said county or district society, and provided further that in case of failure to hold a fair the benefits of this section shall not be available that year.

Sec. 12. All county or district agricultural societies which may be organized or shall hereafter organized shall be and the same are hereby declared bodies corporate and politic, and as such shall be capable of holding in fee simple such real estate as they may purchase or receive by donation not exceeding 160 acres of land and the buildings thereon.

Sec. 13. All deeds, conveyances and other agreements made to and by such agricultural societies for the purchase of real estate, shall be good and valid in law and in equity, and shall vest the title in fee simple in such societies [illegible] real estate.

Sec. 14. In all cases, when such county or district societies formed for the purpose of promoting the agricultural and kindred interests of any county or district of this state shall purchase real estate as sites whereon to hold fairs, the county commissioners of such counties may, if they think it for the interest of the counties and societies, pay out of the county treasuries of such counties the same amount of money for the purchase and improvement of such sites as shall have been or shall hereafter be paid by the societies aforesaid for such purpose. Provided, that in all cases when said societies shall be dissolved or cease to exist, in any county where payments have been made by any county for real estate or improvements upon such real estate for the uses of any society mentioned in the preceding section, then all such real estate and improvements shall vest in fee simple in the county making such payment, and the failure to hold a fair for two consecutive years shall be deemed a dissolution within the meaning of this section.

Sec. 15. For carrying out the provisions of this act there is hereby appropriated annually out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated the sum of [illegible] dollars payable [illegible] the state board of agriculture [illegible] for receiving [illegible] [illegible] And the further sum of [illegible] annually [illegible] to the treasurer [illegible] for the use of the [illegible] purposes [illegible] and that [illegible] and premiums [illegible] pursuits [illegible]

THE HOULT RAILROAD LAW

Sec. 1. [illegible] railroad [illegible] company [illegible] transportation [illegible] charge [illegible] for the transportation of any [illegible] than it [illegible] receives from any other person [illegible] for a like and contemporaneous service in the transportation of a like kind of traffic under substantially similar circumstances and conditions shall be deemed guilty of unjust discrimination [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] receiving, forwarding and delivering [illegible] property of like character carried [illegible] and shall receive [illegible] the same kind of service [illegible] that [illegible] contract, agreement or understanding shall be made to prevent the carriage of any property from being treated as one continuous carriage in the meaning of this act from the place of shipment to the place of destination unless such stoppage, interruption, contract, agreement or understanding was made in good faith for some practical and necessary purpose without any intent to avoid or interrupt such continuous carriage or to evade any of the provisions of this act unless prevented by unavoidable accident.

Sec. [illegible] That it shall be unlawful for any person [illegible] engaged in the transportation of property as aforesaid directly or indirectly to allow [illegible] drawback or other advantage in any form upon shipments made or services rendered as aforesaid by him or them. Provided, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to goods in transit in good faith to be shipped to points beyond the limits of this state. Provided, That this act shall not be construed [illegible] when relating to similar grades of freight.

Sec. [illegible] That it shall be unlawful for any person or persons engaged in the carriage, receiving, storage or handling of property as mentioned in the first section of this act to enter into any combination, contract or agreement by change of schedule, carriage in different cars, or by any other means with intent to prevent the carriage of such property from being continuous from the place of shipment to the place of destination whether carried on one or several railroads in this state, and it shall be unlawful for any person or persons carrying property as aforesaid to enter into any contract, agreement or combination for pooling freight or freights of different and competing railroads, or to divide between them the aggregate or net proceeds of the earnings of such railroads or any portion of them.

Sec. 4. That it shall be unlawful for any person engaged in the transportation of property as provided in the first section of this act to charge or receive any greater compensation for a similar amount of kind of property for carrying, receiving, storing, forwarding or handling the same for a shorter than for a longer distance in the same direction.

Sec. [illegible] That all persons engaged in the carrying of property as provided in the first section of this act shall adopt and keep posted up schedules which shall plainly state:

1. The different kinds and classes of property to be carried.

2. The different places between which such property shall be carried.

3. The rates of freight and prices of carriage between such places and for all services connected with receiving, delivering, loading, unloading, storing or handling the same, whether such property be carried wholly on one railroad or partly on several railroads, and whether such services are performed or compensation paid or received by or to one person alone or in connection with another or other persons.

If the railroad or lines of a corporation shall include all roads or lines in use by such corporation whether owned or operated by it under contract, agreement or lease by such corporation. The schedules required in this section of this act shall be prepared and posted up by such person or persons in the first Monday in July and the first Monday in January of each year and shall not be changed during the six months to which they apply so as to charge a greater rate of freight than that in such schedule.

Sec. [illegible] That each and all the provisions of this act shall apply to all property and the receiving, delivering, loading, unloading, handling, storing and carriage of the same on one actual or substantial carriage, or as a part of such continuous carriage as provided for in the first section of this act and compensation therefor, whether such property be carried wholly on one railroad or partly on several roads, or whether by one line or partly by several lines, and whether such services are performed for compensation paid or received by or to one person alone or in connection with another or other persons.

Sec. [illegible] That each and every act, matter or thing in this act declared to be unlawful is hereby prohibited, and in case any person or persons as defined in this act [illegible] as aforesaid shall do, suffer or permit to be done any act, matter or thing in this act prohibited or forbidden, or shall omit to do any act, matter or thing in this act required to be done, or shall be guilty of any violation of the provisions of this act, such person or persons shall forfeit and pay to the person or persons who may sustain damage thereby a sum equal to three times the amount of damages so sustained, to be recovered by the person or persons so damaged by suit in any proper court of competent jurisdiction, wherein [illegible] persons [illegible] such damages can be found or may have an agent, office or place of business; and in [illegible] court before which any such action is tried shall be of the opinion that the violation of law was willful it shall tax [illegible] by the way of additional costs to the party injured a sufficient sum to cover all his [illegible] attorney's fees.

Sec. 8. That any director, officer, receiver, trustee, lessee or person acting for any corporation or company acting or engaged as aforesaid, or any receiver, trustee, lessee or person acting or engaged as aforesaid or any agent of any such corporation or company, receiver, trustee, or person, or one of them, or with any other corporation, company, person or party who shall willfully do or cause or willfully suffer or permit to be done any act, matter or thing in this act prohibited or forbidden, or who shall aid or abet therein, or shall willfully omit or fail to do any act, matter or thing in this act required to be done, or cause or willfully suffer or permit any act, matter or thing so directed or required by this act to be done not to be done, or shall aid or abet any such omission or failure, or shall be guilty of any infraction of this act, or aid or abet therein, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof be fined not less than one thousand dollars.

Sec. 9. That the words "a person or persons," as used in this act, except where otherwise provided, shall be construed and held to mean a person or persons, officer or officers, corporation or corporations, company or companies, receiver or receivers, trustee or trustees, lessee or lessees, agent or agents, or other persons or persons acting or engaged in any matters and things mentioned in this act.

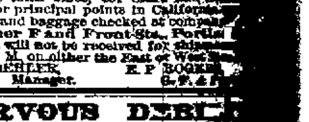
THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, ONLY $1
BY MAIL POST-PAID.



KNOW THYSELF.
A Great Medical Work on Manhood.
Exhausted Vitality, Nervous and Physical Debility, Premature Decline in Man, Errors of Youth, and the untold miseries resulting from indiscretion or excesses. A book for every man, young, middle-aged and old. It contains 125 prescriptions for all acute and chronic diseases, each one of which is invaluable. So found by the author, whose experience for 23 years is such as probably never before fell to the lot of any physician. 300 pages bound in beautiful French muslin, embossed covers, full gilt, guaranteed to be a finer work in every sense—mechanical, literary and professional—than any other work sold in this country for $2.50 or the money will be refunded in every instance. Price only $1.00 by mail, post-paid. Illustrative sample six cents. Send now. Gold medal awarded the author by the National Medical Association, to the officers of which he refers.
THE SCIENCE OF LIFE should be read by the young for instruction and by the afflicted for relief. It will benefit all.—London Lancet.
There is no member of society to whom THE SCIENCE OF LIFE will not be useful, whether youth, parent, guardian, instructor or clergyman.—Argonaut.
Address the Peabody Medical Institute, or Dr. W. H. Parker, No. 4 Bulfinch street, Boston, Mass., who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Chronic and obstinate diseases that have baffled the skill of all other physicians a specialty. Such treated successfully without an instance of failure. Mention this paper.

MOST PERFECT MADE

Myers, Fla., September 20, 1883.
Fleming Brothers.
It affords me pleasure to assure you that after using Dr. C. McLane's Celebrated Liver Pills for more than twenty years in my family, that I regard them as being superior to any I have ever used or have seen used. I have not had them constantly and had to try others, and I have tried a great variety, but I have never had any to act so promptly, profitably and nicely as McLane's. I have used them on myself, wife and children with the most gratifying results.
For children, having used them on my own with such easy and happy effect, I would recommend them to one and all. These pills do the work—do it promptly, do it well, and leave no ill effects behind.
As a bile remover, as a liver corrector, as a forerunner preparing the system for quinine, there is no pill or medicine equal to Dr. C. McLane's Celebrated Liver Pills. I expect to use them as long as I live, if they continue as good as they have been in the past.
Yours truly,
E. H. GILES,
Pastor of M. E. Church, South, Myers Station, Tampa District, Florida Conference.
P. S.—I am now using your Vermifuge, and am highly pleased with it. It is death on worms.

HAMBURG
TEA.
Invaluable. As a specific against contagion, and efficacious remedy for sudden and severe coughs, colds, asthma, the piles, sores, freckles, foul breath, etc., there is no remedy equal to the celebrated Frese's Hamburg Tea. It purifies the blood, cleanses the stomach and bowels, and gives the whole system a healthy and delightful tone. There never was a medicine for the nursery equal to it.
